

How Much Does The World Weigh

Tracy Byrd

I stayed up thinking late last night
Do they have a way to count the stars?
There's a lot of scientific minds
That claim to know what all the answers are
Well, if that's the case
How much does the world weigh?
Somebody's probably worked it out
You could look up what the experts say
But all you gotta do is look around
You'd be surprised who knows
Ask that woman trying to make the rent
Pay the bills and feed the kids
Six months ago their daddy walked away
Ask that man whose family stayed around
'Cause he finally put that bottle down
Now he fights that battle everyday
Hey, how much does the world weigh
The human spirit is a funny thing
How far it bends before it breaks?
And to keep the world from caving in
How much strength does it take?
Well, don't ask me
Ask that couple in the waiting room
The doctors say it's still too soon
It's their little girl and all they can do is pray
Ask that little boy whose gotta choose
Mom or dad, either way he'll lose
They're breaking up and he thinks he's to blame
Hey, how much does the world weigh?
Ask that Man hanging on the cross
His last breath will save the lost
The answer's in the tears on His face
Hey, how much does the world weigh?
How much does the world weigh?
How much does the world weigh?
