

Break the Cycle

Motionless in White

No compromise as I fight to break the cycle
And bring an end (to this suffering)
I'm a shadow, a black out, a storm in the background
(One man's whisper is another's scream)(Searching between all the lines)Forsaken, I walk the night alone
No sanctuary
No place for me to call my home
(But it's time to break the cycle, go!)(Nothing in mind can replace where I have come from)
Can someone tell me who the fuck I am?
(Now I'm on my knees, try to drain this disease)
Repair this machine with unsteady hands(Searching for truth in the knife)Forsaken, I walk the night alone
No sanctuary
No place for me to call my home
(But it's time to break the cycle)I've been the prey of my own mind
Three records later, still confinedNow I've become my own device
Of malice and of contemplation
To go back to expired time
I'll break through the silence and leave it behind
And I'm lost on the stage I've spent
Isolating from nameless faces
Reliving the same dead end
(Break through the cycle I swore to condemn)Forsaken, I walk the night alone
No sanctuary
No place for me to call my home
(But it's time to break the cycle)The past is haunting me (haunting me)
Let go and set me free (set me free)
Open the door to the unknown

Songwriters

Chris Cerulli, Drew Fulk, Kyle Odell, Michael Kenney, Mick Kenney, Richard Allen Olson, Tim

SkoldPublished by

Lyrics Â© Kobalt Music Publishing Ltd., NETTWERK ONE MUSIC (CANADA)LTD Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>