

My Frustration

Coal Chamber

Where was I when God had shown
How to make a happy home?
And where was I when God had shown
How to make a happy home? God [Incomprehensible] Lie in bed and sleep don't come
Have some peace, then give me some
And I know the reason why you hold me down
I won't let this fear of loss make me drown In my bed I lie alone
Scrape together bone to bone
And I can't seem to, seem to find my way
I can't seem to find the break of day I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away Where was I when god had shown
How to make a happy home?
And I have become my worst enemy
I will survive this instability In my bed I lie alone
Scrape together bone to bone
Again I have become my worst enemy
I will survive this instability I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away I need to breathe the breath of life
You constantly drain my life
Why can't you see the breath in me?
I constantly need your need My butterfly, don't fly away
My butterfly, don't fly away
My butterfly, don't fly away
My butterfly, don't fly away If I could just take this simple breath of life from me
You couldn't take it motherfucker eternity
If I could take this breath of life and come inside of me
You wouldn't take it back and listen, I need to breathe As I creep the monkey's back
Now she's gone and oh he's back
And I know the reason why you hold me down
I won't let this fear of loss make me drown In my bed I lie alone
Scrape together bone to bone
And I can't seem to, seem to find my way
I can't seem to find the break of day I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away

I'll stay just a step away I'll stay just a step away
I'll stay just a step away
I will stay, I'll stay
I will stay, I'll stay
