

Waiting On You

Weezer

Why haven't you called me?
Did you forget me?
I need to know
When were you intending
To break the silence
And let me know? Mine is the loneliest of numbers
Now is the loneliest of times
You're nineteen days late, but still I sit and wait, oh
Waiting and waiting
Waiting and waiting
Waiting and waiting
Waiting on you Who have you been seeing
That made you forget me?
I bet you call him
Where, oh where does he come from?
I bet he lives close by
I bet he's just a friend
Waiting and waiting
Waiting and waiting
You got me waiting
Waiting on you I asked you if we'd ever grow apart
You answered, "Yes, I'll never do you harm"
I asked you if we'd ever grow apart
You answered, "Yes, I'll never do you harm"
