Born To Bleed

Doro Pesch

I just know it I can feel it there's something in the air tonight maybe the moon just gave up and fell something's not quite right my heart feels so empty my mind's so full of doubt I should just stay in, and go to bed but now I'm stepping out Sometimes I feel I was born to love you sometimes I feel I was born to die of need I ache at the thought of you - holding another I can't shake the feeling that I'm born to bleed
I just knew it - you're not in here and this where you said you'd be talking with your friends, just being yourself well that's the part of you that worries me

I should stay here, sort of hang out but I quit smoking and I hardly drink the only bad habit that I've got Is dealing with the thoughts I think REPEAT CHORUS :
Home at last - well, there's your car in the driveway when I get in that house I'm gonna give you a piece of my mind you're sound asleep - I might have known it well what's this? You left me a note says you waited up for me, till the sun came up let's see what else you wrote REPEAT CHORUS :

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/