

Bright Stars

The Sainte Catherines

It's so beautiful tonight everything is covered with snow when you don't know where the lines are I would'nt mind walking that far it's been 3 goods weeks filled with lots of smiles what more can I ask for I've got friends by my side I wonder if it's right the way you look at me today I'm not dumb enough to believe you'll be back life is fucking tough my friends will watch my back is it that way with everyone the lack of affection around me it's so normal to cry and to wonder why (I wonder why) to be real is hard we're used to fakeness but in my backyard a heartache there's at least 5 or 6 bright stars but I can just look at them from so far (it's over)
