

Lovely

Michelle Tumes

You're the sweet dreams that soothe me
When I can't fall asleep
You're the field in the middle of the city
When I'm rushing by at the speed of light
You're the strong resolution when I find no peace
You're the church bells ringing in the evening
When all is quiet
Your whisper comfort, lifts my heart, I get so weak
Ooh, you're lovely, lovely
You're the center of my universe
(My universe)
A thousand times
I look around me and I find
Ooh, you're lovely, lovely
You're the center of my universe
(My universe)
A million ways cannot explain
You're lovely
You're the soft words that touch me
When I just can't speak
You're the breeze on the ocean in the morning
Reminding me to greet the day
You're the flowers I remember seeing in Italy
Colors through a golden haze
Bright and radiant, soft and fragrant
In the noon day sun, it makes me sing
Ooh, you're lovely, lovely
You're the center of my universe
(My universe)
A thousand times
I look around me and I find
Ooh, you're lovely, lovely
You're the center of my universe
(My universe)
A million ways cannot explain
You're lovely
I understand
There may be grief and there may be pain
But I am aware
You blind the darkness with who You are, because
Ooh, you're lovely, lovely
You're the center of my universe
(My universe)
A thousand times
I look around me and I find
Ooh, you're lovely, lovely
You're the center of my universe
(My universe)
A million ways cannot explain

You're lovely
