

Neon Sun

Satellites

There's a light flashing bright onto Istedgade driving me sideways
Gravity pulling me
There's a glint in the eye under neon light
30-something schoolgirl
Gravity pulling me
Pulling me down You were a saviour putting yourself between the neon sun and I
I was happy to fry
No one would blame you
Turning your back and run from the neon sun to shade I just wanted to stay Heh, heh, heh
There's a glow burning amber and calling me
This could be your last chance
Gravity lifting me
There's a war being fought every Saturday
With no sign of victory
Gravity lifting me above it all You were a saviour putting yourself between the neon sun and I
I was happy to fry
No one would blame you
Turning your back and run from the neon sun to shade

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>