

Rust

Richie Kotzen

Tell me please, how a woman can move you in so many ways
Then she leaves you alone to let you know how it feels Baby, I know I've been wrong to you
But these days much too hard The best years have found a home
Fallin' the corner of my mind
I know we're not gettin' no younger
Ain't no use hidin' what I know It's better to lose at love
Then to have never loved at all
I know tears won't do me no justice
There's only rust in my eyes I'm on my knees every night, prayin' for you in my life
And now I see very clear what it was I sacrificed
Well, if I knew what I had from the start
I'd have never, never let it go this far

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>