Diamond

Amanda Falk

Luxury wasted
Beauty untasted
Gold undiscovered in a wasteland of lovers
Used and abandoned
Betrayed and unwanted
Hidden and haunted
Sheâ€™s a diamond in the rough
A diamond in the rough

How do you say good-bye to everything youâ€™ve known?
How do you leave behind what holds on to you the most?

Sheâ€™s cold and sheâ€™s jaded
And all hope is faded
â€˜Cause where can she turn
And where can she go
When nobody sees and nobody knows
So she sits and she waits in the dark and the cold
Sheâ€™s a diamond in the rough

How do you say good-bye to everything youâ€™ve known?
How do you leave behind what holds on to you the most?

Held by the ground that sheâ€™s in sheâ€™s surrounded
What can get through to her, can she be found
A lost treasure tragedy, does she even know
The value she holds
The truth thatâ€™s untold

How do you say good-bye?
How do you leave behind?

How do you say good-bye to everything youâ€™ve known?
How do you leave behind what holds on to you the most?
How do you say good-bye to everything youâ€™ve known?
How do you leave behind what holds on to you the most?

Sheâ€™s a diamond in the rough
A diamond in the rough
Sheâ€™s a diamond in the rough

A diamond in the rough
