Highs and Lows

American Hi-Fi

Nobody really knows the pain But everybody knows your name You've got their full attention All eyes on youSmall talk can get you through the day There's got to be a better way When all your friends are faceless You can fake itHe knows the highs and lows, he'll give you what you need And we all agree it's time to shine he'll stand and deliver And he goes about his day, mmile and a wink hello When the picture's gone, fading to black he's poppin' down Prozac Nobody knows the highs and the lowsSports cars and fancy souvenirs That you collected all these years So proud and self assured Hold your head highA chest of broken memories Of how and why and what could be Still locked inside your closet You can't fake itHe knows the highs and lows, he'll give you what you need And we all agree it's time to shine he'll stand and deliver And he goes about his day, smile and a wink hello When the picture's gone, fading to black he's poppin' down Prozac Nobody knows the highs and the lowsHe knows the highs and lows, he'll give you what you need

And we all agree it's time to shine he'll stand and deliver
And he goes about his day, smile and a wink hello
When the picture's gone, fading to black he's poppin' down Prozac
Nobody knows the highs and the lows
Fading to black he's poppin' down Prozac
Nobody knows the highs and the lows

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/