Lost Reflection (Remix)

Crimson Glory

Locked in this attic been here so many years
Shanna won't set me free
She says I'm evil but then she doesn't know
I'm not pretending, ooh, no, not meFull moon's reflecting a face in the mirror
Twisted and bleeding, no, you can't be real
No you're all in my mind
Shades of insanity, you're not me, you're not meLife in the attic I like my rocking chair
Staring in shadows crouched in the corner
Waiting for something, laughing at nothing
No one thereAnd on and on I wonder is there more
What is life beyond the attic door?
The full moon in my eyes, is all that's real
The mirror's lost reflection is in meLife in the attic
Life in the attic
Life in the attic
Life in the attic, I want to leaveCobwebs and dusty dreams
Sharp knives and hollow screams
Wide eyes of terror clawing the attic door
Can't take it anymore, you better go awayYou're lyin', hurry
Who's there? No one there
You're not me

Songwriters
DRENNING, JOHN / LORD, J. / MIDNIGHT,Published by Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/