

Bone

Thalia Zedek

Oh you got soul,
can it breath on its own all alone while you linger with your finger on the triggerHow long will it live
If you never bring it here
How long can you linger While you watch it getting dimmer?Now you've got a bone you can worry on your own
You can pick it you can bury it Dig a hole that you can revisit and we're riding in the dark In the backseat of a car
It's so cold that we shiver
But we don't get very farAnd I don't know, anymore
Well we were, trying to goand now you've got a home Can you live there all alone?
all alone in your head While your dreaming in your bed and now that your clean do you know which way you lean?
can you remember what you dreamed and...
I don't don't know but memories are close
We just go, back and forth
