Southern Slang

Danny Wooten

Well beinâ€™ from the South, I never could tell
They said I had an accent it was funny as hell
I never paid no mind to what no one had to say
Until I met my wife down from Michigan state
My baby tried to make me talka, real right
She said that when I spoke, Man I didnâ€™t sound bright
From the mighty Mason Dixon all the way down Southâ€¦Funny little words are comin out of their mouths, I said
Dang, DANG, Talkin bout that old Southern Slangâ€¦I said Dang,DANG, Oooooh the unforgettable twang.

I traveled to the North on a cold Winters eve
To meet my new inlaws that I had to see
Her mama looked at me with a wide open grin I said â€œHow yâ€™all doin now I guess that were kinâ€¦.She said dang DANG.. Talkin bout that old Southern Slangâ€¦I said Dang,DANG, Oooooh the unforgettable twang.

Her Daddy looked at me and he had his doubts
His daughter with a man who came from the South. I pulled out a jug of my daddyâ€™s corn squeezeâ€¦(PAUSE)â€¦In 2 full glasses he was talkinâ€™ like me..He said dang, DANG.. Talkin bout that old Southern Slangâ€¦I said
Dang,DANG, Oooooh the unforgettable twang.

Lyrics Submitted by Malty Dog

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/