Thought Through

Beat Connection

I look back on my life
And the time that I wasted
Take all the chances that you get
Cuz' your time, you can't replace it
That's why I'm telling you, oh...I guess we never really thought this thing through
Too late now to start something new
I guess we never really thought this thing through
Too late now to start something newYou're so comfortable
Don't need no damn complications
But you might completely miss out
On the rules you should be making
We thought that we were all in
We were just fallin' asleep through our dreams again
We thought that we were all in
We were just fallin' asleep through our dreams againI guess we never really thought this thing through
Too late now to start something new
