Lost

Kt Tunstall

Following my nose A detective with no lead Only my dreams know What's got into me I run by your side But I'm out of breath Lower than the sea And it's killing me, and it's killing me If I choose to go with the way I'm feeling Does it really mean that's the way it is? Is it just a trick that my eyes are playing on my mind? Following the passage of least resistance Following the pack just to pass the gate It's a little late for a change of plan, don't you think? I got lost following you, following you There's a camaraderie In a number for my chest Do this and do that And forget the rest But as the tide retreats It's showing me the shore There's danger going deeper But I can't be here anymore Can't be here anymore If I choose to go with the way I'm feeling Does it really mean that's the way it is? Is it just a trick that my eyes are playing on my mind? Following the passage of least resistance Following the pack just to pass the gate It's a little late for a change of plan, don't you think? I got lost following you What did I do that for? Am I an idiot? What did I do that for? Am I an idiot? What did I do that, do that for? I run by your side But I'm out of breath And it's killing me, and it's killing me If I choose to go with the way I'm feeling

Does it really mean that's the way it is?

Is it just a trick that my eyes are playing on my mind?
Following the passage of least resistance
Following the pack just to pass the gate
It's a little late for a change of plan, don't you think?
But I got lost following you
Time could have stopped
And I never knew
I got lost following you, following you
