Let's Not Talk Now

Jane Siberry

I can see the sweetness on your face
You don't know I'm looking under the light of the moon
I know you're aliveIn the blackness of the pine, in the paleness of the moon
You offer me a silver spoon, you offer me arms to take up
You offer me arms to wake up in and we'll put pain away
Sing the heavens to sleep, ah, let's not talk nowDidn't know the birds woke so early
Didn't know the dawn was so beautiful
Didn't know, didn't know, didn't know
I didn't knowI can see the patience on your face, you don't know what it means to me
When I get weepy or when I get mad, I'm not very coolIn the blackness of the pine, in the paleness of the moon
You offer me a silver spoon, you offer me arms to take up
You offer me arms to wake up in and we'll put pain away
Sing the heavens to sleep, ah, let's not talk nowDidn't know the birds woke so early
Didn't know the dawn was so beautiful
Didn't know, didn't know, didn't know
I didn't knowOh, you keep me laughing at the world
And the more I laugh, the more I understand
And the more I understand, the more I love
And I'm always out of breath, half the time, I'm out of breathIn the blackness of the pine, in the paleness of the moon
You offer me your love and my love comes back to you
