Shoreline

Vineyard

I've been walking on glass for many years
Looking down right through my fears
And I never felt aliveThrough a tattered shirt I wore so much It's crazy how we all lose touch from what
What's insideBecause I have seen the shoreline
Being swept away by the high tide
Yeah I've been through hell and I've been through war
Not knowing what I was fighting for
The lighthouse would tellWhen all of your choices lead you far
But you don't know where you are
Just breathe, try not to speak
Take my word, take it from me
If you want to live happily just fly to where you're freeBecause I have seen the shoreline
Being swept away by the high tide
Yeah I've been through hell and I've been through war
Not knowing what I was fighting for
The lighthouse would tell
The mysteries beyond the sea
Bigger than you and me
Take my hand we will find our way[Instrumental]In a world full of love we'll regain our sense of trust
Then in time you will find, yourself again what was left behindBecause I have seen the shoreline
Being swept away by the high tide
Yeah I've been through hell and I've been through war
Not knowing what I was fighting for
The lighthouse would tell
The mysteries beyond the sea
Bigger than you and me
Take my hand we will find our way

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/