Monday Mundane

Ely Buendia

It's monday out there
I feel it in the air
There's a cloud forever forming
Loneliness is oh so boring
Look at all the colors turn to gray

Outside the strangers' calling
Beware my guardian eye
Please shut your mouth I'm trying to forget but I know
All I do is remember

Big black plastic garbage bags and other things that make you gag
A thousand pictures on my wall
Have you seen them all?

Everybody's gone to work
Forgive me if I've gone berserk
Though I'm far I hear my neighbor's laugh
As I step inside my shoe
A little rat's face turn to blue
With his dying breath, I hear him say
"Hey, it's monday
Hey, it's monday"
