

Jerry, Stand Up

Something for Kate

jerry stand up
pull back the curtains and let some light in quit your job becasue you hate it and it's wasting you once upon a time you were running singing to the ground every morning once upon a time you were jerry stand up am i the only one who's noticed that you've been missing remember yourself man remember that you have chance and possibility once upon a time you were running singing to the ground every morning once upon a time you were crazy jerry you're not getting any younger all you need is fresh air a nice new suit and a walk in the park every day or two every day in every way (repeat chorus)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>