More Than You Know

Maysa

More than you know
More than you knowIt hurts so bad to know I can't show you
The half of my love for you
I couldn't know if you ask me to
Nights I lay helplessly
Looking on as you are asleep
Wishing I could make you see
Just how much you mean to meMore than you know, baby
I love you so baby
Words never told you, no
I could never show youMore than you know, baby
I want you, I need you
I live and breathe for you
More than you knowI could love you a thousand lifetimes
Oh, for sure
And still would need another thousand more
And even that could not show
Just how deep it really goes
All this love inside of me
If only my poor heart could speakMore than you know, baby
I love you so baby
Words never told you, no
I could never show youMore than you know, baby
I want you, I need you
I live and breathe for you
More than you knowThere's just so much I feel, I can express
You overwhelm me with so much joy and happiness
But in your eyes, I see that you understand
And doing everything, I humanly canMore than you know, baby
I love you so baby
Words never told you, no
I could never show youMore than you know, baby
I want you, I need you
I live and breathe for you
More than you knowMore than you know, baby
I love you so baby
Words never told you, no
I could never show youMore than you know, baby
I want you, I need you

I live and breathe for you
More than you knowMore than you know
More than you know
