

All Those Faces

Timothy B. Schmit

I've seen many times in cities
Of men around the block
I meet people, all those faces but some day I'll stop
Not that I want to, but I see now, all things do change Father time he marches onward and nothing stays the same
I have seen a seen a magic carpet, I have taken flight
I just hang on to the edges and sail through the night It's so easy with the tailwind but it's not always so Comes a storm and crash landing and that's the way it goes I'm glad I'm not alone, dealing with these mysteries
It's a constant ebb and flow, struggle to be free Kick your boots off take a leap of faith, let's be on our way, don't forget to wait
I'm in training,
living out my life
it is quite a rite
I like you by side, please stay
Have you ever seen a baby, looking to your eyes
There is nothing quite like it, so young so wise
In a distance there's meadow, so green and fine
It takes a while to finally get there but it's worth the time
See the rising moon, longing to touch the sky
In this endless rendezvous, you can almost hear a sign Kick your boots off take a leap of faith, let's be on our way, don't forget to wait I'm in training, living out my life
it is quite a rite
I like you by side
please stay(solo)
Ahhhhh...
They all are on the table, I'll stand my ground Lift me up to higher places and I won't look down We're all in this together but we forget
In this world with all those faces so much we grabbed It's time to plant the seeds
No use in turning back Love's a simple basic needs and we all need to know that Kick your boots off take a leap of faith, let's be on our way, don't forget to wait
I'm in training,
living out my life

it is quite a rite
I like you by side
please stay
