still cold

Glenn Golden

You really had a million hearts to break
Now it's time that I never left you in the moonlight
How comes always someone else driving your car?
Taking you different places in the sunlightStill cold like the stars That's just the way you are Still cold like the starsYou used to say your heart felt like a stone
Now everything you ever wanted is your ownStill cold like the stars
That's just the way you are Still cold like the stars
