Silhouette

Tom Odell

(Verse 1)I keep waking at night in the freezing cold
Starin' at the shadows coming up the walls
Givin' me a feeling I can't define
Is there anyone there, I say to the dark
But I all get back is a beating heart
Going out a river (?)
And I realize(Prechorus)Oh, some things change
Oh, some things change(Chorus)It's just a silhouette, a flick in the blinds
Just magic,
I don't know why but it reminds me of someone that I used to know
All that I can't forget is there every night, right beside me
I open my eyes and it reminds me I should have never let you go(Verse 2)Look up there, thought I'd see the faceThat familiar heart, that familiar shapeGivin' me a feeling I can't define(Prechorus)Oh, some things change
Oh, some things change(Chorus)It's just a silhouette, a flick in the blinds
Just magic,
I don't know why but it reminds me of someone that I used to know (someone that I used to know, someone that I used to know)
All that I can't forget is there every night, right beside me (beside me)
I open my eyes and it reminds me I should have never let you go(I should have never let you go, should have never let you go)(Bridge)I wanna throw my arms around youTell everyone I found youBut you're just a shadow in my mindYou know you've got me so enchantedWhy you gotta be cold-heartedDancing on your own in the cold streetlight(Chorus)It's just a silhouette, a flick in the blinds
Just magic, (magic)
I don't know why but it reminds me (reminds me) of someone that I used to know (someone that I used to know, someone that I used to know)
All that I can't forget is there every night, right beside me (beside me)
I open my eyes and it reminds me I should have never let you go(I should have never let you go, should have never let you go)(Silhouette, magic, magic, someone that I used to know, someone that I used to know)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/