

So Much It Hurts

Holly Johnson

There's nothing I would rather do,
Than be standing close to you,
Snatching sideways glances,
Dreaming of romances,
While you adore some other guy,
I resist the urge to cry,
Hide my feelings with a smile,
Ride that river of denial. You, the very thought of you, keeps my fire burning,
When you came into view, everything was brand new,
You know I just can't hide it, even if it's unrequited,
I'm just lost for words cos I love you so much it hurts.
I love you, so much it hurts. Like a teenage love sick fool,
When I see you I lose my cool,
I'm officially obsessed,
Infatuated I confess.
How I've fallen for your charms,
Long to hold you in my arms,
Your poetry and fantasy,
You don't know what you mean to me. You, the very thought of you, keeps my fire burning,
When you came into view, everything was brand new,
You know I just can't hide it, even if it's unrequited,
I'm just lost for words cos I love you so much it hurts. You turn the light on my years in the dark,
Melting the ice that surrounded my heart, my heart, surrounded my heart. You, the very thought of you, keeps my fire burning,
When you came into view, everything was brand new,
You know I just can't hide it, even if it's unrequited,
I'm just lost for words cos I love you so much it hurts.
I love you, so much it hurts.
