

Gone Crazy

Journey

He fell out of bed and said, "I'm leavin' this place
In a hot blooded, red-headed rage"
She grabbed her things and slammed out that door
Jumped in the car, said, "Don't need you no more" She turned on the radio I said, "Hey, hey babe
Why do you have to treat me this way?"
She's wrapped up and wound herself way too tight
I think, she's finally come lose this time She's not the same, I can't explain
She's gone away, I don't mean maybe
She's not the same, my burnin' flame
She's gone, she's gone crazy She's drivin' me crazy Well I rode down the highway, so she pulled off
Way past the point of gettin' lost
She calls me up on my mobile phone
I said, "Hey, hey babe, you're in the twilight zone" Call it blind luck but she found a way
Back to the scene where it all took place
And when she walked through that door, it's all I could say
Hey, hey babe, it's me that's changed She's not the same, I can't explain
She's gone away, I don't mean maybe
She's not the same, my burnin' flame
She's gone, she's gone crazy Come on, get out of here
You're drivin' me crazy I'm not the same, I can't explain
I'm goin' away, I don't mean maybe
I'm not the same, it's me that's changed
She's gone, she's gone crazy She's gone away, no time to play
She's in the wings, no time to please
Come on, get out of here
She's drivin' me crazy Go on, get out
Good bye, good bye
Good bye, good bye
Good bye

Songwriters

Jonathan Cain; Amber Schon; Neal Schon; Kim Tribble Published by BEECHTREE PUBLISHING

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>