Clear the Air

Bleach

Hold up, hold on, I think this thing has gone too far
And now I'm stuck in the middle and it's fallin' apart
I can't wait to get some sunny weather
That brings all of us back together againI think, it's gettin' real strange in here
And we better clear the airThis time, it's gone too far, this time it's a whole lot different
You've nailed each other to the wall and no one's goin' to win
This time, it's gone too far and now there's a lot more distance
You should remember who you are, you better right the wrongsYour tongue is a knot, there's blood on the floor and I think
These frozen words can kill and you're killin' each other with them
What's it gonna take for you both to clear your heads and put down
All your pride before you both just end up dumb and dead to it?I think, it's way past gettin' strange in here
And you better clear the airThis time, it's gone too far, this time it's a whole lot different
You've nailed each other to the wall and no one's goin' to win
Like this, it's gone too far, this time it's a lot more distance
You should remember who you areHold up, hold on, I think it's gonna be too far Hold up, hold on, now you should be movin' on Hold up, hold on, you really ought to know who you are So you better fix it all before the fallWoo hey
This time, it's gone too far, this time it's a whole lot different
You've nailed each other to the wall and no one's goin' to win
Like this, it's gone too far, this time it's a lot more distance
You should remember who you are, you better right the wrongs
You better right the wrongs

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/