

All Ends Well

Alter Bridge

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

If I could ease your mind, calm the storm inside
Pull your drifting heart back from a cruel and bitter tide
Show you that tomorrow everything will be just fine
All in due time

AllSomewhere down the road your stars will show
Somewhere down the road you're almost home
You're almost homeIf you believe in nothing else

Just keep believing in yourself
There will be times of trouble,
It's gonna hurt like hell

This much I know, all ends well
It all ends well.If I could heal the scars

Show you what you are
Bind the wounds of disbelief
That brought you down so hard

I would be the tourniquet around your doubting heart
All in due time.

AllSomewhere down the road your stars will show
Somewhere down the road you're almost home
You're almost homeIf you believe in nothing else

Just keep believing in yourself
There will be times of trouble,
It's gonna hurt like hell

This much I know, all ends well

It all ends well.So hard to see so hard to find (so hard to find)

All that you need will calm the tide (will calm the tide)

These words of wisdom you'll know to find

You have so much to give, won't you live, won't you live a little moreIf you believe in nothing else

Just keep believing in yourself
There will be times of trouble,
It's gonna hurt like hell

This much I know, all ends well

This much I know, all ends well
This much I know, all ends well
This much I know, all ends well
This much I know, all ends well
