Change A Heart, Change The World

Jump5

Every dreamer has dreamed of a perfect life
I know the world has been trying for years to get it right
We try and try, but find it impossible to do
Don't you wish we could make this a better place
Can't you see that we must live life a different way
Every day, imagine what love could turn this to
Wanna change the world, then change your mind
We'll light the darkness one life at a timeWhen we change a heart, we change the world
A spark of love can turn into a fire bright as the sun
If you change a heart today
Then that could change a million tomorrows
What started as a whisper will echo on and on
When we change a heart, we change the worldA voice is waking a heart to the light of day
A tiny flicker of hope can push the night away
It's safe to say a caring heart brings another back
Can you fathom a world where we open up
Can you picture the day we've all been dreaming of Live and love like right now is all we really have
Wanna change the world, then change your mind
We'll find forever one day at a timeWhen we change a heart, we change the world
A spark of love can turn into a fire bright as the sun
If you change a heart today
Then that could change a million tomorrows
What started as a whisper will echo on and on
When we change a heart, we change the worldYou may think it's crazy
But that's alright with me
It's gonna take some time to find the way
But I believeWhen we change a heart, we change the world
A spark of love can turn into a fire bright as the sun
If you change a heart today
Then that could change a million tomorrows
What started as a whisper will echo on and on
When we change a heart, we change the world

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/