

Through Your Eyes

Jeff Coffey

It's cold outside today, a January gray
But time seems to stand still, now that you are here
And it's hard to understand, how an ordinary man
Will soon become the king, of a young boy's dream

On a road somewhere that goes nowhere
Well I've been there before
Got a second chance, one more glance
At a life I knew before

Through your eyes
Hope will shine, life is free and love is blind
It's a one way ride, if only I could see it
Through your eyes

May you keep a humble tongue, for every battle won
And when love asks you to dance, take a chance
For if you ever find yourself on unholy ground, I'll help you turn around
May the warm wind fill your sail, but always be aware

Of a road somewhere that goes nowhere
'Cause I've been there before
It'll be alright, I'll be by your side
'Cause that's what I'm here for

Through your eyes
Hope will shine, life is free and love is blind
It's a one way ride, but I know that I will see it all again
Through your eyes
