

Say You're Wrong

Julian Lennon

You say you love me, but I think you're wrong
We've had times in the past when we weren't so strong
Well, I don't know which way to turn
And I don't know which way to turn The times have changed, I can read your face
There's been so many lies and no tears with your cries
Well I don't know which way to turn
And I don't know which way to turn I've been ashamed for so many years
I don't know how to cope when you bring out the tears
And I don't know which way to turn
'Cause I don't know which end to burn I love you more than a man could say
We've been through a lot, gone our separate ways
'Cause I don't know which way to turn
And I don't know which way to turn
