

Love Stepping Out

Disco Inferno

oh (lover) it's a (lovely) night but outside the sky's still light if we just sit and stare we could take a walk through london into regent's park or thereabouts to watch the crowd prepare to (?)what makes your world go round (?) chase you down puts mirrors in your eyes which i smash against the ground and any fool will know that smashing people's hearts can be so much more fun than breaking people's bonesbaby just don't stray too far you're helpless on your own these people want to change things they're dangerous to know fill (?) your tiny head with rubbish take you clean away from me there's not much that i own but i'd like to think that i own youhave i ever told you i only see my face when i look into your eyes? well how can i forgive your open legs which stopped me dead in my tracks like a flytrap traps a passing flyand have you ever noticed how we never ever swallow anybody's lies?
 (god) that makes me strong and now we've cleared the air let's stay to watch the penalties (dispensed)punching women kicking men five on one, one on ten these fuckers getting all that they deserve it's just tricks with mirrors that makes them think they're in the right but we know different and who's to argue on such a lovely night?