

Never Coming Back

Battlecross

    Mom and dad won't you listen to me
    Listen to me 'cause what I'm thinkin' is
        Cool the quiet little look in your eye
    The bigger surprise is I'm doing fine here
        While I zip my jacket up when it rains
        I brush my teeth like two times a day
        And though it seems so stupid to say
    I'm really okay, I'm workin' hard on everything, yeah
        I can't let you come in
        It's just too confusing
        I can't let you come in
        It's just too confusing
    Either you tell the truth and leave here
        Or I am never coming back
    Yeah, when there's something simple to say
    You shrug it away, I watch you shrug it away
        Cool the quiet little look in your eye
        The bigger surprise is I'm doing fine
        While I zip my jacket up when it rains
        I brush my teeth like two times a day
        And when it all falls down on my head
    And I'm down on my head, I'm belly laughing again
        I can't let you come in
        It's just too confusing
        I can't let you come in
        It's just too confusing
    And again you tell the truth and leave here
        Or I am never coming back

    No, well, I don't care what you might think
        You just don't mean that much to me well, I'm awake, the night is loud and mom is quickly running out
        But I don't care what you might think
        You just don't mean that much to me
        You just don't mean that much to me, no
        Cool the quiet little look in your eye
        Do you remember much that day
    When mother was gone but mother was her name?
        Mother was her name

I can't let you come in
It's just too confusing
I can't let you come in
It's just too confusing
Either you tell the truth and leave here
Or I am never coming back
    Never, never
    Never coming back
    I am never coming back
Or I am never coming back
    Never coming back
    Never coming back
