I Believe Again

Ra

You opened up a door and showed a distant light
Delightful eyes that hold the world in grey and white
Romantic arms designed to empty out my heart
Creative joy, dynamic love right from the startI believe in a world that can take you high
I believe in a thought that can touch the sky
I believe in peace and harmony
I believe that you belong to meCollective mind I underestimate the sun
In everything in everywhere in everyone
Semantic goals I disregard the simple truth
I trade my fear, I trade my hurt in for my youthI believe in a world that can take you high
I believe in a thought that can touch the sky
I believe in peace and harmony
I believe that you belong to meIf only I could hold you every day
I could undertake a larger mission
I know that you and I is hard to say
But broken pieces can be whole again, whole againI believe in a world that can take you high
I believe in a thought that can touch the sky
I believe in peace and harmony
I believe that you belong to meI believe in a world that can take you high
I believe in a thought that can touch the sky
I believe in peace and harmony
I believe that you belong to meI believe in a world that can take you high
I believe in a thought that can touch the sky
I believe in peace and harmony
I believe that you belong to me

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/