

Leaving Soon

My Superhero

let's take a look at this and try to figure it out and don't step right in the shit and track it right through the house go start new career and find what you haven't found and soon everything is clear and what's up will hit it's all that you do that makes it it's all that you find go take it it's not about the things you left behind forget it it's all something else in front of you you go surround yourself with a million things today it makes you forget about it to deal with another day it's really very simple stop what you're doing now take a look at this ugly picture and look what you allow i don't know where you're going but i hope you're leaving soon
