Connection

Avail

No one turned your Rally of peace into A state of violence Inside I hear the screams Of the strongest on their knees I took a look - I stepped back Disappointment pulled me down Locks of skin outside Boredom lures them into this set Let's walk away - no not a chance We pause and linger not alone
Random Plunging people pushing presence To my face I heard about it 100 times When the act caught my sight I plugged my ear to dull the sound But curiosity let me see Why I looked I still don't know But now vision that runs my head
Why are we overwhelmed By rules today?
