Someone For Everyone

This Century

Where is my someone who'll always understand?
The person who'll give everything, just to take my hand
What if I never feel it, what if I never know
And what if it just gets easier to spend this life alone?
Rollin' with the punches, hope my black and blue don't show
Put the bright in my eyes so no one ever knows
How I feel on rainy days or what I'd do to have always My hopes are almost suffocating but inside I know there's
Someone for everyone, someone for everyone
Someone for everyone, someone for everyone

There's got to be more than just getting through the day
But I don't want to settle just to numb the pain away
I'm holdin' out for everything, the obvious and in betweens
And some say pride lets heartache in but inside I just know there's
Someone for everyone, someone for everyone
Someone for everyone, someone for everyone
Someone for everyone, someone for everyone
Someone for everyone, someone for everyone
Someone, someone for everyone
Someone
