Leaving Berkeley Heights

BEDlight for blueEYES

and everytime i look into those eyes I see agony.
This is the way we fall! This is how we crumble when our passion burns us down! This is the way we fall! This is how we crumble into ashes on the ground! All i feel is you, burning through me now. Love brings its share of wonder but you brought agony! That twisted spell i'm under destroyed when you thought you could lie to me. This is the way we fall! This is how we crumble when our passion burns us down! This is the way we fall! This is how we crumble into ashes on the ground! Everytime i see your eyes, lifts me up and makes me high, and i know i'll be alright, if i just get back tonight. We are fated toxic lovers, pain and passion interwoven and it's poison to my spirit when i'm not the one you've chosen. In this time of introspection i will save you tonight, feel your pain through your deception, i will save your life. Tonight, i will fight for your love. You're still burning in my blood, i can't seem to quench this hunger.
