

The Shape Is In A Trance

Thurston Moore

I'm not the one they called but I showed up anyway set off the critical alarm tweaked to obey no matter how they change it the dream always looks the same decoy machines are breaking in protest to the game the shape is in a trance fixated on the fire the shape will take its trance to think it can go higher reject his record eject the lady's master tape it's not that she won't rewind it's her desire to take shape abandoned bass amp blowing love to starlight dream boxes of blood plugged into our awesome sick machine
