See My Soul

Push Play

On a train full of strangers
Take a glance and look away
When a smile could be dangerous
Safer to be afraid
Building boxes and no one fits in
Everyday's a judement day
Makes me wonder
If you could see my soul
These walls would surely shatter
If you could see my soul
Our differences won't matter
Anymore, I'm letting go
Of all the history that's come between us
Oh if you could see my soul
What I'm worth on the surface
Who I wear and who I know
Don't give you a clue, about my purpose
Or how much deeper I might go
Without the chance I'll show my colors
No ones only black and white

Don't you wonder..?
If you could see my soul
These walls would surely shatter
If you could see my soul
Our differences won't matter
Anymore I'm letting go
Of all the history that's come between us
Oh if you could see my soul
I'm open, I'm waiting
My hand is reaching out
I'm hoping you'll take it
The moment could be now
Don't you wonder..?
If you could see my soul
These walls would surely shatter
If you could see my soul
Our differences won't matter
Anymore I'm letting go

Of all the history that's come between us
Oh if you could see my soul
