

Sable On Blond

Stevie Nicks

Learn to be a stranger, blond on blond
In silence she says "Excalibur"
I beg of you now, what was it that fell
Was it One fallen leaf like the feather that it was
Was freedom by choice or baby, was it love?
Was it a thorn in your side, something that you hide
Something you don't touch because it hurts too much
Well, have you come to see that my face is not seen
Ooh, outside my frost covered windows
Oh, and just how deep do you hold that dream
In your hands each night this time
In your hands each night this time
Oh, was it you I heard calling, which voice
Well, I know that you are going, which voice
Did I force you to remember
In the sacred name of love
To be brave save the stranger
Sable on blond, dark upon light
Because it hurts too much
Just how deep
Do you hold that dream?
In your hands each night
In your hands each night
In your hands each night
Ooh, I beg of you now what was it that fell
Well, this time I think it was you, babe
This time, well, I think it was you, babe
This time, well, I think that it was you, baby
This time

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>