Sable On Blond

Stevie Nicks

Learn to be a stranger, blond on blond In silence she says "Excalibur" I beg of you now, what was it that fell Was itOne fallen leaf like the feather that it was Was freedom by choice or baby, was it love? Was it a thorn in your side, something that you hide Something you don't touch because it hurts too muchWell, have you come to see that my face is not seen Ooh, outside my frost covered windows Oh, and just how deep do you hold that dream In your hands each night this time In your hands each night this timeOh, was it you I heard calling, which voice Well, I know that you are going, which voice Did I force you to remember In the sacred name of loveTo be brave save the stranger Sable on blond, dark upon light Because it hurts too much Just how deepDo you hold that dream? In your hands each night In your hands each night In your hands each nightOoh, I beg of you now what was it that fell Well, this time I think it was you, babe This time, well, I think it was you, babe This time, well, I think that it was you, baby

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/

This time