Zhaga

Preachers seeking power in the masses
Liars with excuses as their assets
Masters for the puppets of all classes
They'll deny they're crows

Hiding in the blind spot of believers
Biting every hand that ever fed them
Laughing when you call them all deceivers
Every time you fall

this tank is full of sharks, waiting for your blood smiling back at you while no one cares

With bullets they moralize
With battles they emphasize our faith
With murder they justify
With death they prioritize their gains

Haters of the choices that you carry Hunters of the freedom that you cherish
Forgers of the words that you're repeating
Many times before

Crawling undercover while we protest
Maggots with addiction to control us
Faggots that disguises like a prophet
Do they think we fall?

With bullets they moralize
With battles they emphasize our faith
With murder they justify that you vote, for those swines.
