

Stay Gone

Clint Black

We don't always hear the end when it knocks on the door lets you know what's coming there and then you could slip in the dark find your way under my skin you and your band of demons just move right in and you come to stay and you find your way into every breath I breath.
but I fought you and I beat you before you got to deep.
I know there will be more of you bound to come along so I thank my lucky star to say we are through and pray you stay gone you get away with murder you still sanity from the sane you rock the lives of moms and dads and children all the same and you never face your trials or you would be somewhere doing time. and the end of days and kingdom come not a soul would ever mind but you come to stay and you find your way into every breath I breath. But I fought you and I beat you before you got to deep. I there will be more of you bound to come along so I thank Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>