Art

Taproot

Occasionally I feel like the walls Around are closing in on me Physically I feel sometimes I need seclusion to be freeThe irony at last I see Reality is my perception And my personality is my reflection I must eliminate and change Yesterday's, yesterday's pains today I must eliminate and change Yesterday's, yesterday's pains todayI need to be set free from the smiles That are scarring my skin sarcastically And causes seems to comfort And freeze in full around me mentally The irony at last I see Reality is my deception And my personality is my deflectionI must eliminate and change Yesterday's, yesterday's pains today I must eliminate and change Yesterday's, yesterday's pains todayCan I make it? I'll try Can I take it?

I'll tryI've finally healed my wounds
And healing the next thing and pouring out of me
The precious success becoming
Apparently a bigger part of meI'm looking back at the things
That I can't remove my past okay with me
The future is brighter than
I could imagine it to beI must eliminate and change
Yesterday's, yesterday's pains today
I must eliminate and change

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/

Yesterday's, yesterday's pains today