

Road Regrets

Dan Mangan

We'll drive until the gas is gone
And then walk until our feet are torn
Crawl until we feed the soil
Film the whole thing It's all business in the left hand lane
Drive there and then drive back again
Escape can be the only way
To escape So I've gotten used to coffee sweats
Still getting used to road regrets
Hell, I took you up on all your threats
To leave It's a shame, it's a crying shame
Them's the breaks
And ain't it always the way
It takes you back to from where it is you came Robby likes his country tunes
It's never been the lens that I see through
But I guess driving for a week or two
Puts words in your mouth So find Dodge and then get out of it
It's about as country as I can
So you ain't living until you're living it
Not dead 'til you die But watch out for the paraphrase
'Cause it will crown you and it will take your legs
See the cost is more than you get paid
But do it anyway It's a shame, it's a crying shame
Them's the breaks
And ain't it always the way
It takes you back to from where it is you came
It's a shame, it's a crying shame
Them's the breaks
And ain't always the way
It takes you back to from where it is you came

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>