

Today Is the Day (feat. David Osmond)

Nashville Tribute Band

I'm not gonna hold it in anymore
This world needs what I have to say, today Thousands of years of souls fighting for The day of truth restored paved my way

For everyone who chose this path and the aftermath gave me all I have as I stand these doors

Today is the day I will open my mouth
I will shout from the rooftops the truth will come out
And I'm sharing my soul in the words that I speak with the love that has made me this way
Yes today is the day I'll proclaim what I believe

I can't control the souls in front of me and those who listen to my voice made their choice mmm....What they leave and what they take If they stay or walk away or how they feel as they've closed the door

So I won't worry about there are fears or doubts
As I walk out to this world once more

Today is the day I will open my mouth
I will shout from the rooftops the truth will come out
And I'm sharing my soul in the words that I speak
with the love that has made me this way
Yes today is the day I'll proclaim what I believe

Oh the gospel's a good news life everlasting families that won't fade away I stand as a witness the love lasts forever
And I will not wait one more day to say...Oh today is the day that I proclaim I'm sharing my soul in the words that I speak
with the love that has made me this way
Yes today is the day is the day

Yes today is the day I'll proclaim what I believe

Lyrics Submitted by Jojo

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>