

Nothing Left

8mm

We're all a little messed up in our own ways
And we always, will be marking days on prison walls
Every you think that maybe there's a chance for redemption
    Don't hold tight onto your own breath
    Before you know there's nothing left
    There's nothing left in your memories
        That has a thing to do with me
        Or where I've been for all these years
        Grinding smiles and forcing gears
        I never thought I'd ever be this old
And I always, never made a point to never act my age
Now I guess it's silly to expect anything more from

Everyone that gave so much and more
    You gave your time
    That has a thing to do with me
    That gives you reason to believe
    That the words I'm telling you
    Have always turned out to be true
I've tried and I've tried to keep you satisfied
    Though I may never reach the top
    Every step along the climb is Everything I wanted in this life
        Cause you gave your time
