Dragons (Live At Wacken 2015)

Stratovarius

[Johansson]You wanna go to heaven but you never want to die
A silent scream for freedom turn to Fire turn to water turn to Stones the same, the skys the same, it doesnt roll away
The other side where life goes on is Close and yet you know its just a lieBut youre stronger than they are Feel the wind in your hair
And youre faster than they are
And it feels like you're lighter than airWhen youre drawn to the ground by the dragons
Would you raise up your head, would you gaze at the sky
When you're drawn to the ground by the dragons
Would you raise up your head, would you cryAnd all the wicked prisons that they built inside your mind
And all the wicked borders that unite us, that divide us, until Death ever different will embrace us in the end
But roll away the stone, and hear the Wind will whisper out your nameBut youre stronger than they are
And it feels like you're lighter than airWhen you're drawn to the ground by the dragons
Would you raise up your head, would you gaze at the sky
When youre drawn to the ground by the dragons
Would you raise up your head, would you cry

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/