

Swan Dive

Sister Hazel

Would you think I was crazy
If I stripped on down to my skin?
Or, would you think I was free as a bee?
C'mon, tell me, tell me, tell the truth now
Wouldn't you think you can meditate
In the middle of the eye of a hurricane
Would you now, but, somehow
If we were tethered here together
We could weather out the weather here
An' oh yeah, I might be crazy
But that's not the same as insane
And I'm scared
But that's not the same as bein' afraid
If I throw myself over the edge
If I, I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose
I'd still want to swan dive into you
So tell me now what you're thinkin'
A Lincoln for your thoughts
Or a dollar for 'em all, yeah
Well, I can take the truth, no, I cant, yes I can Tell me we were meant to be a happy accident
Would you cry if I said it?
Would you get it, if I told you
That I want you and I need you?
Aww, that wouldn't say enough
Hell, I love you, how 'bout that, yeah?
And oh yeah, well, I might be crazy
But that's not the same as insane
And I'm scared
But that's not the same as bein' afraid
If I throw myself over the edge
If I, I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose
I'd still want to swan dive into you
Oh yeah, well, I might be crazy
But that's not the same as insane
Yeah, I'm scared
But that's not the same as bein' afraid
If I throw myself over the edge
If I, I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose
I'd still want to swan dive, yeah yeah
If I throw myself over the edge
If I, I find myself in over my head
If I shatter from the fall and I lose
I'd still want to swan dive into you

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>